| Execution Rules | Beneficiaries are obliged to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Execute the project in accordance with the application, the terms of the call, the head of FLL's guidelines, and the regulations in force at the Jagiellonian University 2. If an article has been declared as a result, submit the manuscript to the target journal⁴ before the end of the maximum project execution period 3. If a response or review recommends revisions, submit the revised manuscript within a month or, if the journal sets a shorter deadline, within that time 4. If the article is rejected, submit the manuscript to a journal agreed upon with the head of FLL within a month of receiving the rejection notification 5. If a grant proposal has been declared as a result, submit it to the call specified in the funding application before the end of the maximum project execution period 6. Inform the head of FLL of any events related to the project at least two weeks in advance 7. Promptly inform the head of FLL upon receiving a response or review recommending revisions, rejection, or acceptance of the manuscript by the journal, as well as the result of the grant call 8. Inform, in a manner determined by the head of FLL, about the project's funding by FLL under the ID.UJ programme, especially in articles and other (including digital) publications/materials, as well as at events related to the project 9. Submit a preliminary report within two weeks of the end of the project execution period, unless the final report has already been submitted 10. Submit the final report within two weeks of achieving all the results 11. Upon the head of FLL's request, supplement or correct the report within a specified deadline 12. In case of a negative evaluation of the report or, upon the head of FLL's request, in case of other issues related to the project execution, especially exceeding the maximum project execution period, promptly agree upon a recovery plan⁵ with the head of FLL 13. Maintain effective communication with the FLL team, promptly respond to project-related questions from the head of FLL, and participate in evaluation meetings |
|------------------------|--|

⁵ The head of FLL determines the deadline of its execution and the submission of the report.
